Called new series in continuation of Marseillaise; l'hebdomadaire de la France au combat, published first in London, then in Algiers, Cairo and Dakar. Paris edition had to change title to avoid confusion with publication of same title, founded during the Resistance. N 1944-Ap 1945 published simultaneously in Africa and Paris, the Africa edition under title: Marseillaise. With My 7 1945, the latter adopts title of the Paris edition and becomes its Édition africaine

Biologische zentralanstalt für land- und forstwirtschaft, West Berlin
Founded 1898 in Berlin as Abteilung für land- und forstwirtschaft of the German Gesundheitsamt. Moved to Berlin-Dahlem Ap 1 1905 becoming an independent institution called Kaiserliche biologische anstalt für land- und forstwirtschaft. In 1920 name changed to Biologische reichsanstalt für land- und forstwirtschaft, and in 1945 to Biologische zentralanstalt für land- und forstwirtschaft. Until 1949 the Zentralanstalt was responsible for activity in Berlin and the Russian zone of occupation. In that year East German officials established an institution with the same name (later called Biologische zentralanstalt Berlin) in

Berlin-Kleinmachnow (East Berlin) transferring personnel and projects from Berlin-Dahlem (West Berlin) to Berlin-Kleinmachnow. The Zentralanstalt in West Berlin maintained an independent existence until 1954 when it merged with the Biologische bundesanstalt für land- und forstwirtschaft in Brunswick to form the new Biologische bundesanstalt für land- und forstwirtschaft, Berlin and Brunswick
